

When confronted by something new, most of us tend to think, “What’s the WORST that could happen?” But why would you want to think about and ATTRACT the WORST? Instead, ask yourself,

“What’s the BEST that could happen?”

- ★ By changing one simple word, you change the question in your mind. By asking yourself “what’s the BEST that could happen?” you direct your thoughts to new and exciting possibilities.
- ★ You can only think one thought at a time, and if you’re thinking about the BEST, you simply cannot think about the worst.
- ★ If you desire something, the best that could happen is that you receive it. Right? But isn’t there something even better than that? Couldn’t you receive even MORE than you want?

- ★ When you begin to think about what the best case scenario could be, you begin to daydream about more and more positive things coming your way, raising your vibration, attracting more and more positive thoughts and, eventually, things, into your life.
- ★ As you train yourself to think about the best, you open your mind up to more possibilities, and you begin to think bigger, expanding your potential.
- ★ You FEEL better when you think about the best. It feels good to feel good!
